

FOUND NO BARBER IN PUNALUU "CITY"

Train Dispatcher Doyle returned to town Saturday from a trip to Hawaii, where he fell a victim of practical jokers. Doyle intended taking in a wedding at or near Punaluu and had taken along two dress-suit cases, containing a tuxedo and a claw-hammer. On the advice of his friend, Purser Conkling, of the Mauna Loa, he had left his razors home, being assured that there were plenty of barbers in Punaluu.

At Honuapo, Doyle said he would feel just right after getting a shave and a warm bath at Punaluu, which is not far away from Honuapo.

"Well, when you land there, go up Kamehameha Road until you come to J street and you can take your pick of the barber shops," said Conkling.

Doyle went ashore, looked about the landing and asked if Punaluu was far off.

"Oh, this is only the landing," was the innocent reply.

"Where is Kamehameha Road and J street?" inquired the train dispatcher. "Oh, up the road a little ways. You'll come across the city by and by."

Far up the road they found Doyle at the wayside, seated on his two dress-suit cases, looking mournfully toward the Mauna Loa, an injured expression settled on his countenance.

What he did to Conkling, the purser has not reported.

Sore and swollen joints, sharp, shooting pains, torturing muscles, no rest, no sleep—that means rheumatism. It is a stubborn disease to fight, but Chamberlain's Pain Balm has conquered it thousands of times. One application gives relief. Sold by Benson, Smith & Co., Ltd., Agents for Hawaii.

CAMP MCKINLEY DANCE.

A dance was given by the soldiers of the Camp McKinley Social Club in the Exchange Pavilion at Camp McKinley Saturday evening. The hall was very beautifully decorated with "Old Glory" prominently floating overhead. Guns were crossed on the wall in front, draped in flags of all nations, together with other decorations out of which beamed the word "Welcome." Two gattling guns stood by front entrance. The Pacific Glee Club did exceptional credit to itself with its music.

The hall was not overly crowded, so that all had a chance and all seemed well pleased with the evening's dance. This was the first dance given by the boys there now, and the officers of the club contemplate giving a dance about once a month.

An alarm from Box 24 Saturday night called the department to Alaeka and Queen streets where Policeman Nielson had discovered a fire in the rear of the tailor shop of J. P. Rodriguez. Nielson broke a window, entered and had the blaze out by the time the engines arrived. The fire was in a pile of charcoal. Its origin is a mystery.

A list of our young people who are pursuing their studies abroad was published lately in the P. C. Advertiser, but the name of one of the best and foremost of them was, we are sure, inadvertently omitted. Miss Ethelinda Schaefer is studying at Bryn Mawr. She is not only a student, but also an author of great promise. Of late she has been adding to her mental stores by a trip over Europe. By this time she has settled down to her work again. Mr. and Mrs. Schaefer, by her last letter, are on their way to Honolulu.—Anglican Church Chronicle.

Y. M. C. A. SERVICES.

Three services were held yesterday under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. The first was in the forenoon at the Rapid Transit carmen's clubhouse, where Elder Williams made an address. In the afternoon services were held at the Prison, where C. J. Day and Albert Boscow spoke. At the regular men's meeting at 4 p. m. in the Y. M. C. A. International Secretary Weidenfall was the speaker. He was enthusiastically received.

Mrs. J. W. Yandley desires to inform her piano and voice pupils that the term will begin on Tuesday, Sept. 5th. Applicants for lessons will find her at her studio-residence on Bereania, midway between Punahou and Alexander.

Kastol

When you attempt to give a child Castor Oil against its wish and repugnance, and after many minutes of persuasion and golden promises and maybe a little force such as holding the child's nose while you pour the oil down its throat, then you will probably realize how much worse the condition of the child is than when you first mentioned the oil to it. Now you can obviate all this by giving which can be taken without any "doctoring" and willingly repeated by any child who has tried it once. Sold in 25 and 50-cent bottles at

Kastol
